

Wanted

– Locale reseller air technology –

Are you an entrepreneur with an affinity for air technology and looking for a proven innovative solution in the industry?

We are looking for resellers in the exclusive area of Belgium and Germany, who want to conquer the market with Air Doors from their own company.

Our products, which are used in plenty of cold stores and warehouses within the food industry, have a basis that they achieve significant energy savings for the end customer, often with a payback period of less than two years. The savings are in the energy efficient passage at the internal transport of the refrigerated space. The companies are based locally in the target countries.

De products:

- AFIM® Air Doors
High pressure air curtains for industrial climate and temperature separation, which include dust, odour, humidity and insects are stopped.
- AFIM IGLO® Technology
Solution for freezers and cold stores to save on precious energy and to prevent icing and slippery floors.

Qualities:

- Locating and advising potential customers
- Sales of the above products
- Installation at the customer (or re-install by own partners)
- Community contact for the customer and provide a suitable solution
- Providing service and maintenance

Requirements:

- Acting from own business
- Experience in air technology
- Existing customers in industry / food industry
- Mastery of the English or German language

We provide:

- Exclusivity in the region
- A team of experienced specialists
- Marketing support in their own language through:
 - Product Brochures
 - Support product website
 - Personal AFIM® email address
- Training and coaching
- Exclusive note as reseller on the product website
